(2)	The aircraft presumably belong to the SUB Air Force and are occasionally used for border control flights.
(3)	The aircraft types reportedly used by the Czechoslovakian air Force agree with previous information. Critish types used also include Mosquitos. It is noteworthy that no new Soviet aircraft, such as IL-12s, jet fighters, and four-engine bombers were mentioned. According to press reports, such type aircraft arrived in Czechoslovakia in early 1950.
(ħ)	First report that the construction of small aircraft was given up in the two aircraft plants.
(5)	Expansion work at the Kosice airfield was previously reported. See  It cannot be determined whether the arrival of a Soviet  Air Force commission, which was previously reported, has any connec-	25Υ1Δ
